Jean-Claude Allenbach

21 Juillet / 31 Août 2002

Oeuvres récentes

For some people painting is a must, a necessity, and the ideal way to express oneself... this is the path Jean Claude Allenbach has chosen to communicate with others, in all simplicity and open hearted...

Blunt colours oppose delicate nuances reflecting the Mediterranean climate and atmosphere of the ever present main elements:

sleek blue skies, rugged wooden hills and deepest chequered tans of mineral soils.. where is man in those transcendent and still countrysides ?... hiding between the thick layers of paint ?

Look closer, in all quietness, you will see it appear behind the white walls of the "mas", among the trees or freshly cut flower bouquets, or handing out to you a bouquet of thyme and rosemary from the "garrigue" ... come even closer... can you now smell the delightful scents of Provence ?...
